Welcome to Aether!!

- All tasks for Aether are completed on the external platform: multimango.com.
- You will use a time tracker to keep a record of the hours that you task. This is how you will be able to get paid for your tasks on the project.
- In this session we will provide you all the information needed to get started. If you have any questions, please ask them after the presentation.

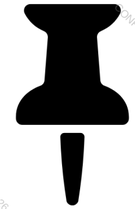

Thank you for choosing this project.
Your dedication is appreciated.

In-platform tracker

- This is the new standard tracker.
- Almost all CBs have been migrated to this tracker.
- Time is tracked with a timesheet on Outlier.

Hubstaff Tracker

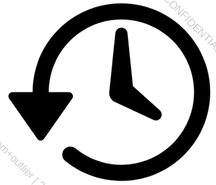

- This is the old tracker.
- All CBs are being migrated to the in-platform tracker.

How do I know which tracker I need to use?

- The Hubstaff tracker has been deprecated, so you need to use the in-platform tracker.

Getting Started with the in-platform tracker

STEP 1 Press the “Continue Tasking” button (you don’t need to download anything)

→ A Timesheet for Aether will pop up.

Getting Started with the in-platform tracker

STEP 2

Press the “Start Timer” button

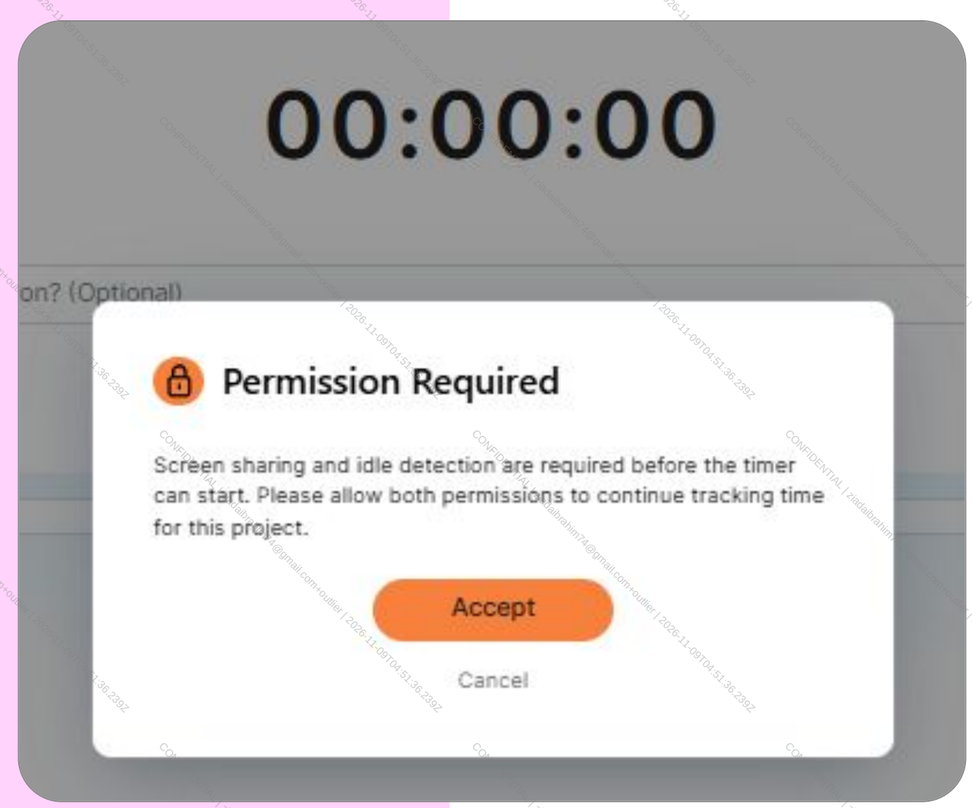

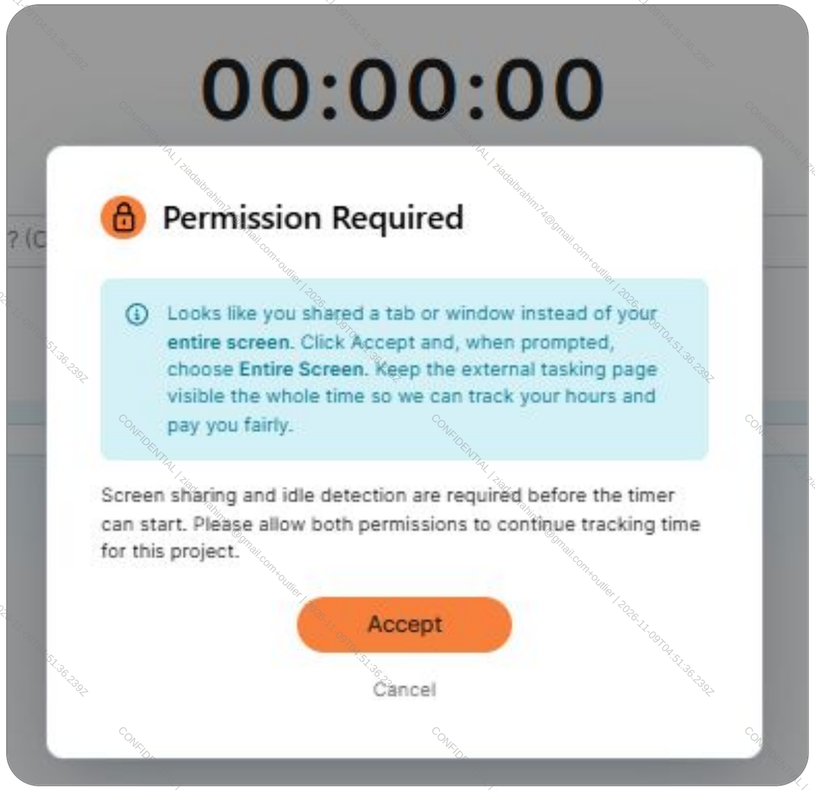

→ A window pops up to ask for your permission.

Getting Started with the in-platform tracker

STEP 3

Press the “Accept” button to indicate that you agree that your screen will be shared with Outlier and that Idle detection will be enabled.

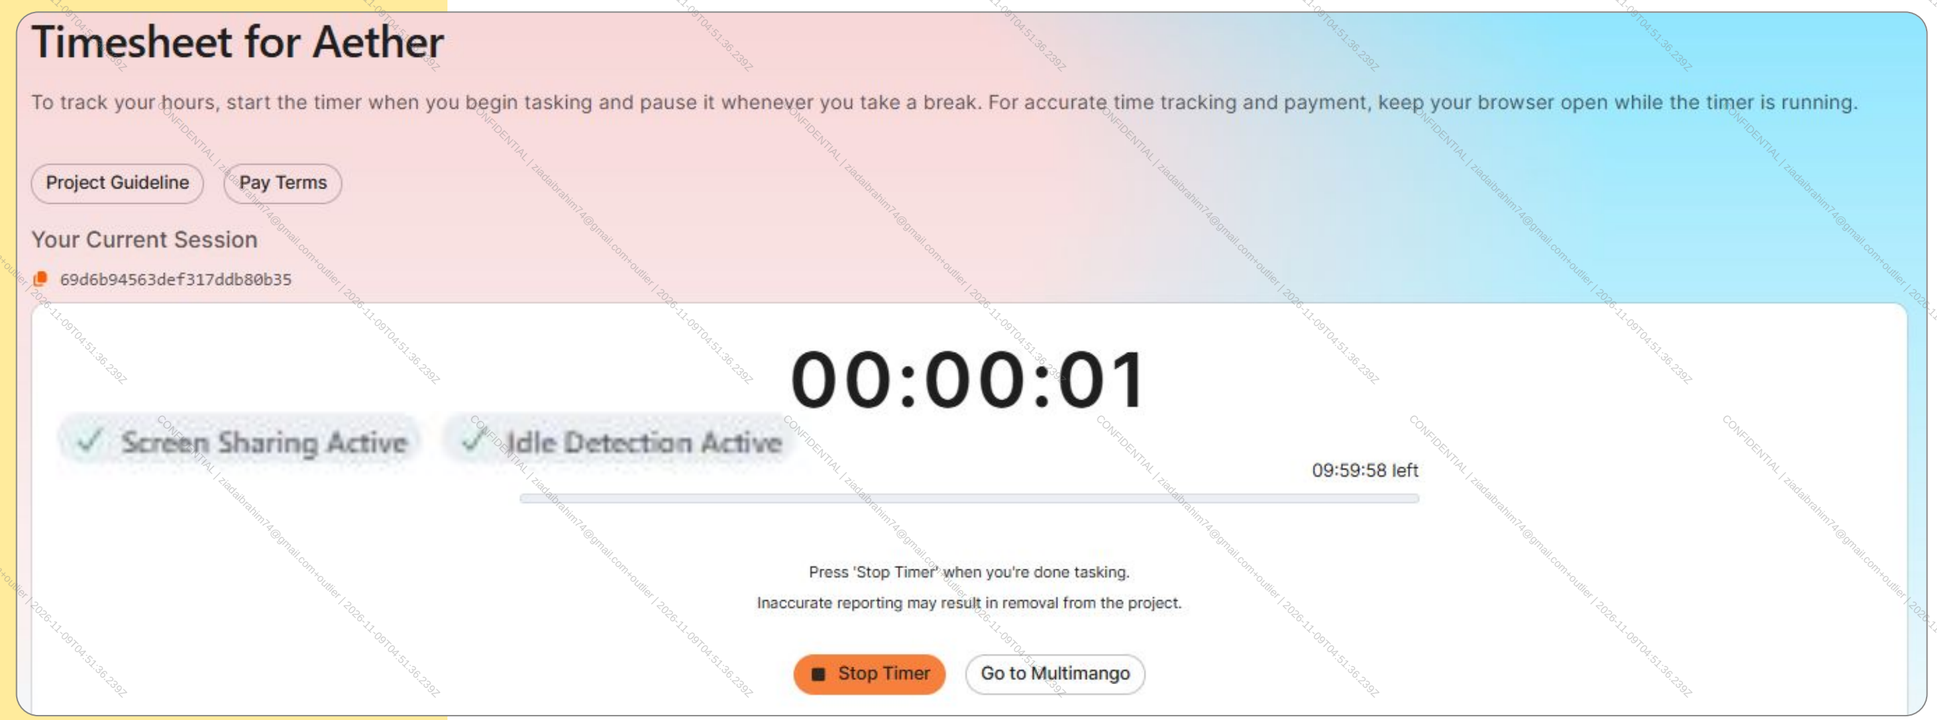

→ A window pops up to select the screen that you want to share.
→ Select the screen that you will be using to task on Multimango in case of multiple screens.
→ DO select the entire screen. Selecting 1 window will give the error message on the right.

Getting Started with the in-platform tracker

STEP 4

Click on the “Go to Multimango” button and start tasking

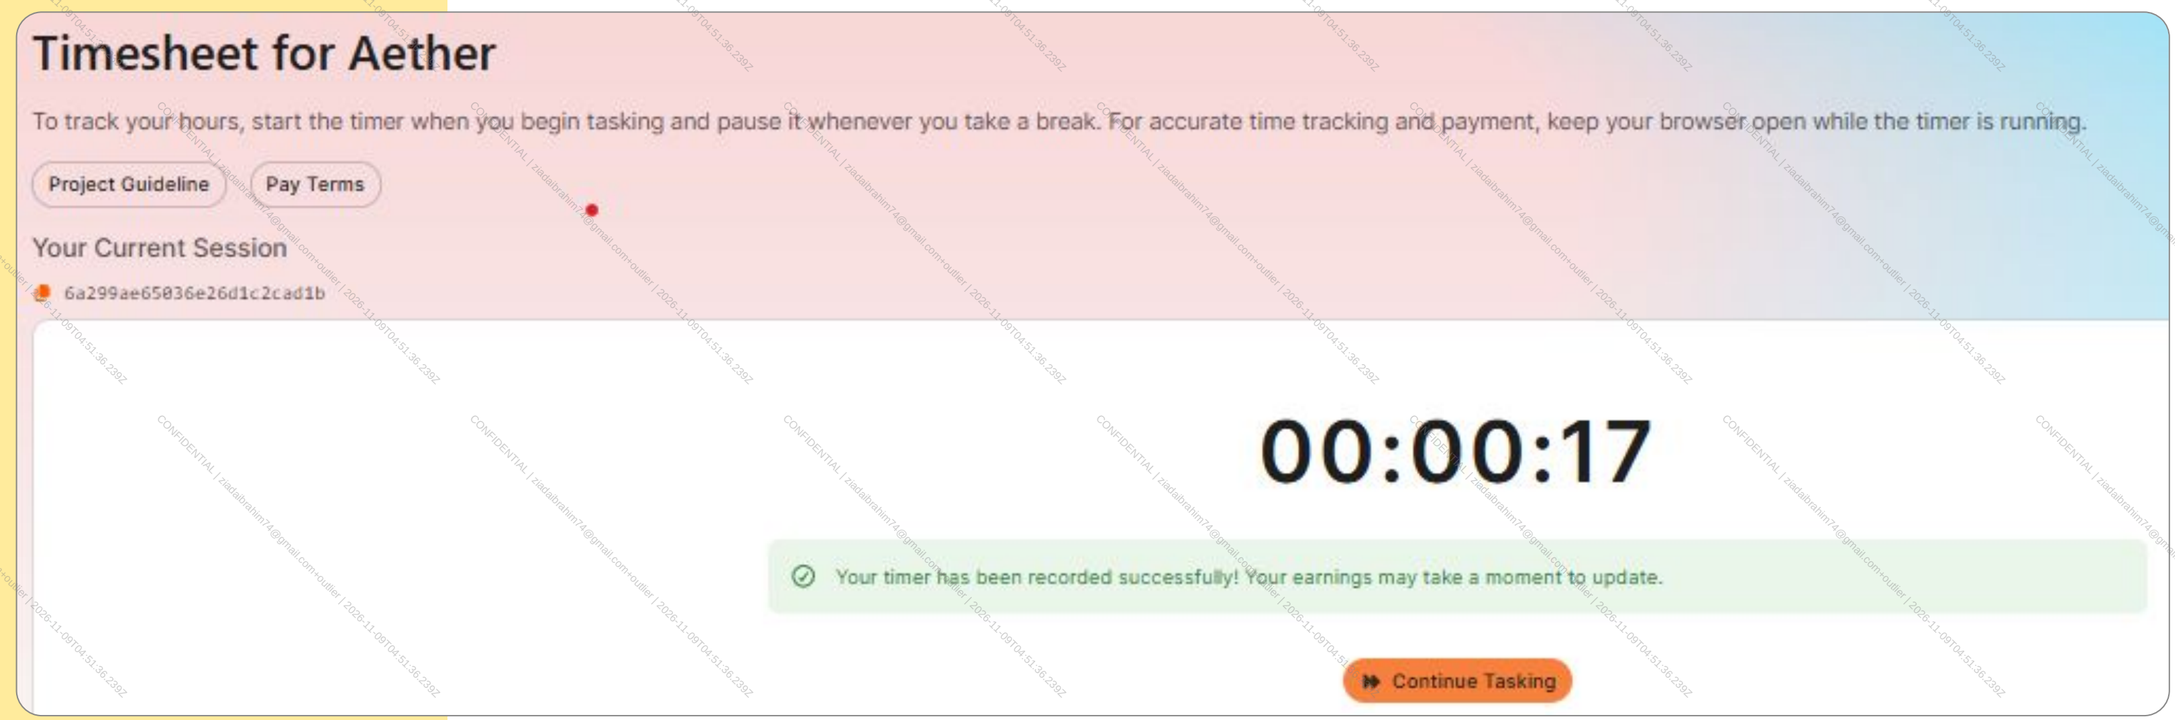

→ There is an indication that Screen Sharing and Idle Detection are active while the timer runs.
→ When you stop or take a break, press the “Stop Timer” button.
→ NEVER CLOSE THIS WINDOW! Your time will not be tracked. Time not tracked=time not paid.

Getting Started with the in-platform tracker

STEP 4

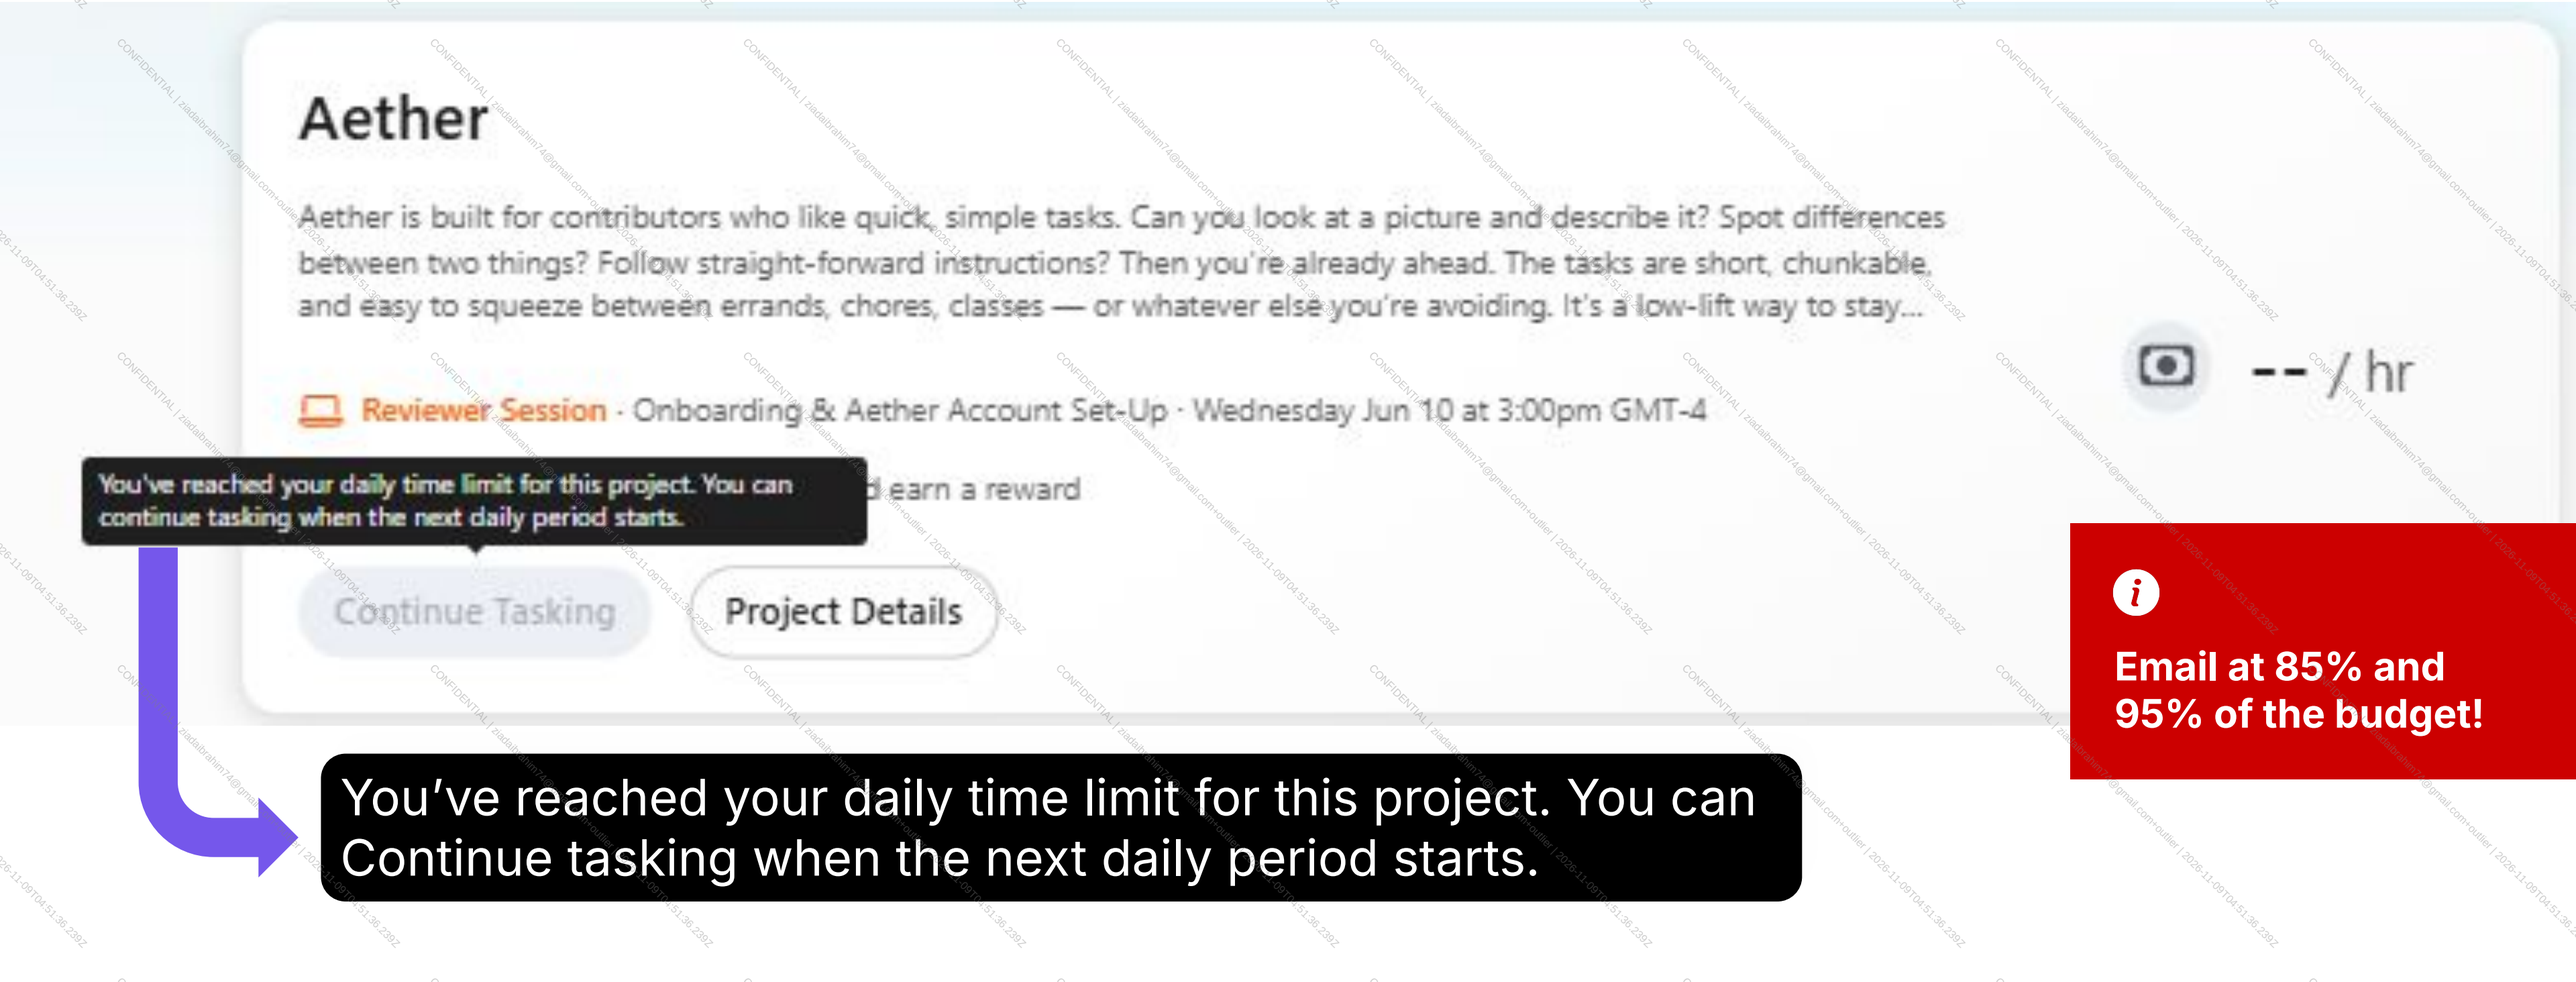

Click on the “Stop” button once you stop tasking.

→ Once you press the STOP button, the screen sharing and idle detection stop automatically.
→ The tracked time will appear soon in your Outlier Earnings Tab.
→ You can continue any time by pressing the “Continue Tasking” button if there are still hours available for the day.

Getting Started with the in-platform tracker

- You have a personal daily limit. Once reached, you can't track additional time for the day.
- There is also a global daily limit for the Multimango project. Once this limit has been reached, all trackers stop until the timer resets (5 a.m. PT).

You've reached your daily time limit for this project. You can Continue tasking when the next daily period starts.

Email at 85% and 95% of the budget!

Additional information

For Everyone

- Do not task on Multimango without tracking your time!
- You can task every day from Monday until Sunday, starting at 5 a.m. PT.
- Payments happen in the night from Tuesday to Wednesday PT.
- All subprojects are paid with the same hourly rate.
- The amount of subprojects available depends on the client.
- You can task on any available project on Multimango.

Tracking your time correctly and delivering great quality are very important to stay on the project and avoid payment issues.

Time not tracked = Time not paid.

And that’s a wrap!

You will use the Outlier in-platform tracker to track your time

- ➔ Hours will be updated to your Earnings tab after you finish tasking. Payments are on weekly bases.
- ➔ This project does not require you mirroring the task in Outlier

Project Names:

- ➔ Aether in your Outlier platform
- ➔ Multimango.com is the client’s platform

Tracking your time correctly will ensure you don’t have any issues with your payment!
